

Daffodil Days

Residents of Hotel Reed Nursing Home received freshly cut daffodils Tuesday, compliments of Alcan Cable Company. "Daffodil Days" was sponsored by the American Cancer Society Hancock County Chapter. Cases of the flowers were purchased by GE Plastics, who donated them to elementary school teachers; Hancock Bank, who gave them to customers; and Coast Electric Power Association, who donated daffodils—flowers of hope—to patients in Hancock Medical Center. The Cancer Society received proceeds from the event. Seated are Hotel Reed residents Inez Rouse and Charlie Scott; standing, ACS director Phyllis Moran, member services chairman Alice Ladner; and local president Kathy Fernandez. Bishop orders bingo closed

BY DENA BISNETTE
Pere Le Duc Council 1522 Knights of Columbus in Bay St. Louis has closed its bingo in compliance with a request from Bishop Joseph L. Howse of the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi.

Grand Knight Bob Hubbard said the usual Sunday night bingo games were conducted at the Knights' hall on Main Street, then the bishop's letter was received Monday.

The council has not been notified by State Attorney Mike Moore as was American Legion Post 77 in Waveland, which closed recently, Hubbard explained.

However, the bishop has received notification from Moore requesting that all schools, churches and other organizations affiliated with the diocese stop the games.

"As far as I know, all Knight of Columbus councils in the Diocese of Biloxi have complied with the request, Hubbard added.

A sign will be posted on the door in case someone does show up for the games which had been scheduled for Thursday night.

"We did real well our last two times, with about 71 people Thursday and 69 on Sunday," the Grand Knight stated.

"We want to thank our patrons for the contributions they have made through bingo over the years and hope they'll come back and see us when we reopen—hopefully," Hubbard stated.

"It's a shame because it's cut out all the old folks' fun."

The first anticipated affect of shutting down the Knights of Columbus bingo will probably be cuts in the charitable contributions the council usually makes, he added.

Thief starts fire during gas theft

BY DENA BISNETTE
Authorities are still seeking the person whose attempt to steal gasoline from a fire engine started a blaze which caused damage to a volunteer squad's station.

Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh stated that the fire at the Fenton Volunteer Fire Department's station was discovered at about 8:15 p.m. Friday by Wayne and Cindy Shiyon, who reported it to the sheriff's department.

Investigators from the State Fire Marshal's office are treating the incident as "an accidental fire which occurred during a theft," stated Marsh, who as county fire marshal is heading the investigation.

"The hose the thief was using was still hanging out of the side of the truck," he stated.

The exact cause of the fire is still being investigated, but Marsh said evidence does not indicate that the thief intended to do anything more than steal gasoline.

According to Marsh, the blaze damaged the Fenton volunteers' most recently acquired truck, one of three housed in the station.

In addition, there was extensive smoke damage throughout the building, which is less than a year old and includes an office along with the truck bays.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department is assisting in the investigation.

One convenience center opened, another planned

BY DENA BISNETTE
The county's first convenience center is now open at Hancock County Central Maintenance Barn in Kiln.

The center has been officially open since Friday and a similar facility will soon be opened at the intersection of Washington and Chapman roads, where weather has been delaying construction of a concrete slab for the center's equipment, County Maintenance Superintendent

Sam Cuevas stated. The Kiln center is open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. every day, including weekends, with an employee on duty to assist residents who bring their garbage there.

The facility accepts household-type garbage only. Debris such as leaves, old appliances, construction materials and commercial garbage are not accepted and must be taken to the trash landfill at Standard, Cuevas added. The center is expected to be a savings to the county because it eliminates the need for seven six-yard-size dumpsters and one 30-yard dumpster. In addition, Cuevas added.

Redfish found dumped near space center gate

BY DENA BISNETTE
About 2,000 pounds of gutted and cleaned redfish have been found dumped in the third such incident in two weeks.

Department of Fish and Wildlife Conservation Officer Andy Elchos said about 2,000 pounds of redfish were found dumped Friday night in rural Hancock County near Port Bienville, near the site where about 200 pounds had been dumped two weeks earlier. On Wednesday morning, more was found.

The Wednesday morning incident involved about 1,200 pounds, found on Napoleon Road near the south gate of John C. Stennis Space Center. Elchos stated that tire impressions found at the sites indicate that the same vehicle was used all three times.

It is currently illegal for commercial fishermen to buy or resell fish coming into or going out of Mississippi.

"This is the strangest thing in the world," Elchos said.

He said he believes people who had the fish may have been afraid to be caught with them, or possibly found out there was not a market for the redfish.

He compared the situation to "black market" or "bootlegging," explaining that violations might increase because observance of Lent temporarily expands the seafood market.

Elchos was assisted by Hancock County, Hancock County Sheriff's Department and NASA security in disposing of the redfish, which were buried.

County's first adult arrested in compulsory school case

BY DENA BISNETTE
For the first time in Hancock County, an adult has been arrested for refusing to comply with Mississippi's compulsory education law.

Janice McNeese, 37, of Rt. 4, Box 136, Bay St. Louis, was arrested by Deputy Leo Ladner at about 4 p.m. Tuesday on an affidavit by a school attendance officer.

She has been charged with contributing to the neglect of a child, a spokesperson for the Hancock County Youth Court stated Tuesday afternoon.

be prosecuted through Hancock County Justice Court.

It involved three children, a 16-year-old who had not been enrolled in school and two others, ages 15 and 13, who had been enrolled in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School district but who both had more than twice the maximum number of unexcused absences allowed by the state.

McNeese allegedly allowed the absences to occur and failed to force the children to attend school or to provide them suitable excuses when an excusable

She said the case was chosen for prosecution through Justice Court because of "the severity of the violation."

"These are very, very intelligent young girls but they have no formal education," Landry stated.

The children were returned to their home and the courts are trying to work with the parent to be certain they stay in school.

The compulsory attendance law became effective during the beginning of the 1983-84 school term, but was implemented a part at a time and took full effect only this year. The spokesperson said this school year is the first time the 16-year-old involved in this particular case would be covered by the law.

Contributing to the neglect of a child is a misdemeanor, but it is punishable by a fine of up to $1,000 or six months in jail or some combination of the two, COURT PAGE 6A

A preliminary hearing for McNeese before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein will be set for later this week. McNeese was released from the Hancock County Justice facility on bond, the spokesperson said.

School Attendance Officer/Counselor Yvonne Landry said the case is the first of its kind to

"In the past, the complaint was always on the child and it was processed through the Youth Court. This is the first time we have prosecuted the adult," said Landry, who works directly with the Bay-Waveland schools.

Letter of Thanks

I would like to express gratitude to all those wonderful citizens of Hancock County who have helped me during the past three years.

My wife, Hope, died of a terminal illness at the young age of 29. She suffered greatly the past year. There were so many people who came to our aid that I could never thank everyone individually.

Special thanks to Dr. Paul McGarry and Coroner Harold Stiglet and to Mrs. Georgia Gunter of Hancock Medical who was so very kind, warm and gentle.

To the staff of the Hancock Sheriff's Department, the EMT's at Diamondhead and so many others who have supplied moral and emotional support, I thank you all. You made her last two years much more bearable.

Many thanks,
 Larry Phillips

Display rooms, which will be open all day, will showcase exhibits from authors, bookstores, presses and related business and services. Authors and businesses wishing to participate in this area can receive display reservation forms by writing Gulf Coast Writers Association, P.O. Box 6445, Gulfport, MS 39506.

A special feature will be the opening reading session Friday at 7 p.m. in Hardy Hall where several staff members will read from their works.

Let's Write!, the contest held in conjunction with the Conference is accepting entries until Feb. 14. Winners will be announced during lunch on campus the day of the conference.

Plenary speaker Ellen Gilchrist ranks as one of Mississippi's most well-known authors and personalities. A frequent commentator on National Public Radio's Morning Edition, she first gained recognition for her collection of short stories In The Land of Dreamy Dreams.

Her long-awaited fourth collection of short stories, Light Can Be Both Wave and Particle, has just been published by Little, Brown to high critical acclaim. It showcases the creative brilliance, sensitivity and humor that are Gilchrist's trademarks. Currently living in Fayetteville, Ark., Gilchrist teaches at the University of Arkansas.

Multi-talented Robert Hitt Neill wears many hats: farmer, novelist, columnist, publisher. The most unusual hat may be that of professional storyteller which he will wear when presenting a program at the March 23 evening reading.

Hitt, a Leland native, is author of The Flaming Turkey, Going Home, and The Jukes, published by his own company, Mississippi River Publishing Co. Hitt will head the session on Business and Promotion for Writers.

Poet Glenn R. Swetman is a Biloxi native who won a 1980 Pulitzer nomination with his poetry collection Concerning Carpenters and Childhood Saints. He is author of six volumes of poetry and his work has appeared in hundreds of journals in the U.S. and foreign countries.

Swetman coordinates the creative writing program at Nicholls State University and will lead the sessions on Poetry.

In April 1989, Macmillan published Connie Green's juvenile novel, The War At Home, set in Oak Ridge, Tenn. during World War II. Her short story, Tilly's Night Adventure is in the new Silver Burdette Ginn reading series. Green teaches at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville and will instruct the Juvenile Writing Session.

Non-fiction will be covered by Patricia Hope, editor of Roane Newspapers, Roane County, Tenn. She is the author of a guidebook to East Tennessee, Joy In The Mountains.

Hope authors two self-syndicated travel columns in addition to her duties as director of The Tennessee Mountain Writers Conference.

Pamela Gray Ahearn participates in writing from both sides of the desk—as an agent and as a writer. She has been an agent with Southern Writers Agency in New Orleans for five years and is an assistant editor at Bantam Books.

Ahearn's romance novel, To Love No Other has already appeared in print, and a second novel, All Our Yesterdays, is awaiting publication. Ahearn will guide the session on writing romantic fiction.

For more information about the conference or the Let's Write! Contest, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to GCWA, P.O. Box 6445, Gulfport, MS 39506 for registration forms or call 863-8190 or 832-2713.

seeking non-tax or voluntary ways of raising revenue instead of going back to the same old tax increases that hit the working people of Mississippi in their pocketbooks. Not only that, tax increases hurt our competitiveness.

Education improvements should not be held hostage to a tax increase when a strong effort has not been made to look at non-tax alternatives. Taxpayers deserve that much.

Education is a priority. Our future depends on it. Any delays or attempts to water down the education package is like putting a hold on our children's future.

Mississippi may not be the richest state in the country, but we have a gold mine of ideas and creativity and determination. Our challenge is to make that work for the children, the taxpayers and every citizen.

Also passed was a bill establishing hazardous waste disposal fees based on the amount generated and fees for commercial nonhazardous solid waste facilities.

Of the funds remitted, 60 percent will go to the Department of Environmental Quality with a portion to fund the waste minimization program, 20 percent will go to the state's general fund, and the remainder will go to the municipality of county in which the waste facility is located.

All of the bills mentioned here must be returned to the House of Representatives for consideration of the amendments added by the Senate.

If the amendments are accepted, the bills will go to the Governor for his signature into law or veto. If not, conference committees may be established to proposed compromise language for each bill.

In a very recent development, the coastal delegation of the Senate introduced a resolution to create a state-level task force to work on reducing the impact of closing the Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County.

Almost 1,700 people stand to lose their jobs, and we want to work closely with Congressman Gene Taylor to do everything we can for these citizens.

I would be glad to hear your views on any issue. You may write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Mississippi 39215 or call me at 359-3770. On weekends, I am at 467-2399.

tion, the dumpster at the center is equipped with a compactor unit, which reduces the cost of hauling by the contractor providing the equipment, Gulf Coast Waste.

There will be no charge to Hancock County residents who use the convenience centers, Cuevas said.

Cuevas stated that the centers are expected to reduce several problems, including vandalism and arson of dumpsters; scavenging; dumpster overflowing; use of county-provided dumpsters by people who do not reside in Hancock County; and unauthorized dumping of items which should not be placed in dumpsters.

All of those problems have occurred, Cuevas said.

The dumpsters have been in use since the county closed its sanitary landfill at Catahoula more than a year ago. Permits for a proposed new landfill at Standard have been applied for and some have already been granted.

Lloyd Compton of Compton Engineering is under contract to handle the permit applications for the county.

Elvis Smith, 22, of Bayou Phillips has been charged with two counts of burglary and one count of grand larceny in connection with an incident in Shoreline Park and two in Bayou Phillips, Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda stated.

All of the incidents occurred at residences within the past two weeks, Hoda added.

Time spent replenishing trees was well spent

Can you give me a good definition of time?

In the March 1990 issue of the National Geographic, under the heading of "The Enigma Of Time," physicist and Nobel laureate Richard Feynman said: "Don't ask me what time is. It is just too difficult to think about."

My thoughts about time are in agreement with Benjamin Franklin, who said: "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time for time is the stuff of which life is made."

And some thinkers have said "Time is our only equality." We each have the same number of hours, minutes, days and it's up to us how this time is spent.

I like to believe that we have spent our time wisely when a decision was made to join others in a tree planting project. Surely the participation by individuals and civic groups, business places and others was near our goal of total involvement.

Without the help given by Coast Electric, a donor of time and two good men on the working end of a spade planting would not have been as successful. Their employees also "took time out" for picture taking, program participation, etc.

Mississippi Power Company generously donated plants -- trees to be selected by a committee. Even after the month designated for planting came to an end February 28 the plantings continued. And fortunately the weather cooperated!

I like to think that each of us learned to appreciate the beauty and usefulness of "The Plant Kingdom."

And I liked very much the special observation made by a first-grader who wrote: "Please save the trees because they help the cats get away from dogs." I hadn't given that much thought before -- but trees do make life more livable for a host of wild animals.

Ask any squirrel and you'll learn that tree limbs are more fun, cheaper, more effective than treadmills.

One problem about time that has not been solved is associated with the scheduling of that elusive product. For example, free time for one person could be an exceedingly busy one for another.

The nearest thing we have come to a solution of that problem is called "schedule." Until something better comes along, paying careful attention to the times indicated in schedules is just about imperative -- a real MUST -- for efficiency. Our chemist hasn't formulated any substance such as WD 40 to relieve the situation.

Since you asked: The young trees planted on the front lawn of Bay St. Louis City Hall are variegated junipers. The juniper is an ancient name and means forever young. It is a hardy plant and tolerates average conditions.

The Friendship Oak Chapter NSDAR has a birthday coming up. The Chapter was organized March 31, 1983 with Mrs. John C. Elkins the organizing regent. With 13 charter members the chapter now has an enrollment of 40.

TIMBERLINE

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

Timber is 'tree-mendous'
boost to state's economy

Well, it's that time of year again. The tree planting season is upon us! From December through March tens of thousands of acres will be reforested throughout Mississippi. Last year, over 148 acres were replenished with timber on private non-industrial land alone, placing Mississippi second in reforestation among the 13 southern states.

Following reforestation, the young seedlings continue to grow. And so does the market for this renewable natural resource. In 1982, there were 29 new and expanding forest/forest-related industries announced in Mississippi.

Since then, many more industries have realized the abundant supply of our state's timber resource. There were 150 new and expanding forest/forest-related industries reported for 1987, creating more than 5,500 jobs.

Mississippi is quickly becoming the nation's top producer of furniture, as the state's supply of hardwood timber attracts furniture industries. Even the eyes of the world are drawn to Mississippi's bountiful timber supply. Clearly, forestry is of vital importance to the state's economy.

As a tree is processed from the stump to the final product its value steadily increases. For example, in 1988, forestland owners received $340 million for standing timber sold.

This value was increased to $611 million at the first processing point (which happens to be a Mississippi record high). The timber's final value, once its been processed into a final product, was slightly over $3 billion! A "tree-mendous" asset to our state's industrial economy.

So, the future certainly looks bright for the millions of seedlings scheduled to be planted this year, and even brighter for the landowners! If you're interested in joining the forestry band-wagon, give me a call at 467-4728 or 255-7152. Put that idle land to work for you.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990-1B

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

Three Gulf Coast sailors including Eric Doyle of Pass Christian Yacht Club, made it into the Gold (championship) Fleet for the annual 1990 Laser Midwinter Regatta. The three-day event, hosted by Gulfport Yacht Club, was won by Rod Davies of Pickering, Ontario, Canada.

During the coming weekend, the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Yacht Club will host another one-design regatta, the Sunfish Midwinter Championships.

Coast Episcopal Schools is sponsoring its second annual Coast 5K Challenge on March 24 at War Memorial Park in Pass Christian. The event begins at 9 a.m. on a T.A.C.-certified course, which finishes up on Scenic Drive. There is still time for early registration for the race and the accompanying one-mile health run, which will be hosted by Gulf Coast Running Club.

For more information, call Jim Wylie at 467-9730 after 6:30 p.m., Blair Lambert at 452-3669 or Lindo Sullivan at 832-6071.

Several local businesses have registration forms; I picked up one at Mary's Eatery.

Something I've never seen done on registration forms before is listing the record for an event. Last year's winner finished the race in 15:21, so that's where you might want to aim as you train.

With the sunny weather we've been having this week (hoping, of course, that it hasn't changed by the time this goes to press), Sunday should be a nice opportunity for local tennis fans to attend Diamondhead Tennis Association's first pro-am doubles invitational tournament.

Admission is free to spectators with matches beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Tennis World. The field features 20 amateurs and 20 pros, including some international players and several more familiar names, such as Mackey Dominguez of Gulfport, Teddy Viator of Hattiesburg and Rod Hertzog of Meridian.

Magnus Eklund, pro at Tennis World, is serving as co-sponsor.

Registration is still being accepted for the Hancock County Heart Association's fifth annual Golf Festival, which will be played May 12 on Diamondhead Country Club's Cardinal Course.

Participants will have a choice of a shotgun start at 8 a.m. or 1 p.m., but the field is limited to the first 60 teams entering each session.

The $60-per-player entry fee is tax deductible and includes green fee and half a cart fee. Diamondhead Property Owners Association members who have already paid green fees will be able to register at a discount price. For information, contact chairman Stephen Planchard at 255-2660.

For registration, send name, address, handicap and telephone number and the check for the registration fee to Herb Larson, 6838 Hilo, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Don't forget to indicate if you wish to be paired with another entry.

Boating safety classes being offered by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 35, begin tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Pass Christian Public Library, which is on Hiern Street just behind Pass Christian City Hall.

The course material costs $10.50 but instruction is free. The course will meet on three consecutive Tuesdays and Thursdays and certificates will be awarded upon completion.

The first annual St. Patrick's Day Derby 5K will be run Sunday, March 17 at 10 a.m., beginning at Biloxi City Hall. Registration will be accepted prior to the race, which is sponsored by Hibernia Marching Society.

Don't forget that Bay St. Louis Little League is continuing registration today from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. at McDonald Field and the ballpark next to Bay High's facility on Athletic Drive.

Registration is $15 and players must bring a birth certificate and must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. For more information, call 467-7055.

Waveland Little League is also planning to accept registration, beginning Friday, March 16, and continuing Tuesday, March 20, and Thursday, March 22, from 6:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. each night at Elwood Bourgeois Park on Central Avenue.

For more information, contact Bernard Tusa. By the way, players who participated last season do have to register again.

The Long Beach YMCA is the closest YMCA facility to Hancock County of which I've heard, and is starting a couple of programs which might be of interest to local residents.

One is a new series of Friday gymnastics classes with Melissa Fountain as instructor. A 4 p.m. class will be given for children ages three to five years and a 5 p.m. class is for children age six or older. Sessions last six weeks and the first one is March 9.

The Y is also offering a tennis clinic on Saturday. Admission is free and there are two sessions, a 9 a.m. program for those 18 and under and a 1 p.m. program for those 19 or older.

For more information on either program, call 864-1223.

Rocks rebound after slow start

After dropping their season opener 10-7 to North Shore of Slidell, La., last Thursday, the St. Stanislaus baseball Rock-A-Chaws bounced back Saturday to trounce the Gulfport Admirals 11-3 at Gulfport, and reprised the performance on Tuesday at home with a 10-3 win.

In the loss to Slidell, the Rocks forced the game into extra innings with four runs in the bottom of the seventh tying the score at 7 all.

Cedric Smith was outstanding at the plate with two hits and four RBI's in six tries.

Saturday at Gulfport, the Rocks defeated the Admirals led by Smith's 2 singles and a double to lead a 15-hit attack.

Greg Schruoff pitched a no-hitter for 5 innings and Mickey Quinlan finished the game in relief.

Tuesday at home, the Rocks trailed 3-0 through five innings but exploded with 6 runs in the fifth and added four more in the sixth.

Adam Breerwood, Scott Peterson, and Kevin Jacobi posted two RBI's each for the Rocks. Scoring came on runs by Schruoff (2), Breerwood, Smith, Brian Potter, Jacobi, Quinlan, John Rutherford (2), and Robbie Bishop.

This week the Rocks travel to Bonnell High School in Metairie, La., going up against the host Bruins on Friday at 5:15 and against Destrehan on Saturday at 4 p.m.

Bass can be caught many different ways, but certainly one of the most exciting methods is by "chugging" them.

That's the opinion of Johnson Outboards Pro Staff angler and well-known tournament professional David Wharton, who often uses topwater lures known as chuggers to fool fish.

"A chugger is a floating lure that looks like a short, thick cigar, except it has a concave, dished-out face," explains Wharton, a former Sam Rayburn Lake guide. "When retrieved, the lure makes a popping, chugging noise."

Wharton believes these types of lures represent a baitfish trying to escape, or possibly bass feeding on a school of bait. The noise and water movement excite bass into making sudden, reflex-type strikes.

"Chuggers can be fished year-round," says Wharton, "but they are especially effective in spring when worked around shallow, visible cover. I like to use them around bushes, fallen trees, clumps of reeds, and even over submerged grassbeds."

"The most important aspect of fishing these lures," the Johnson pro continues, "is setting up a rhythm of movement. Cast and let the lure sit motionless for a few seconds.

"Then pop it once with your rod tip and let it sit again. Then pop it twice and let it sit. Then pop it three times and let it sit."

"Believe it or not, the most important part of this retrieve is making certain you let the lure sit motionless. That's when most of the strikes occur."

The size of the chugger can be important, explains Wharton, and is determined by the size of the baitfish in the water.

"We try to match the lure to the size of the bait, since it represents the food the bass are eating," says Wharton. "In the early spring, a small chugger should be used. Later in the summer when baitfish are larger, a larger chugger should be tried."

"Chuggers are made in about three sizes, 1/3, 1/2 and 3/4-ounce weights, and each size has its time and place."

It's a good idea to wear a PFD (personal flotation device) whenever you're on the water, and Johnson and Evinrude dealers have made that a little easier by offering a PFD designed especially for bass fishermen.

The arm holes are generously cut for ease of movement, and the side laces are adjustable to help keep you cool in any weather. The vests are available in Johnson and Evinrude colors to match your favorite brand.

Seventh ranked MSU takes on No. 2 Alabama

Having clinched their first winning season since 1982-83, the seventh-seeded Mississippi State Bulldogs meet the second-seeded Alabama Crimson Tide in Game Five of the 1990 Southeastern Conference Basketball Tournament at the 15,300-seat Orlando Arena in Orlando, Fla. Friday.

Friday's MSU-Alabama contest will be regionally-televised by Jefferson-Pilot Teleproductions with Tom Hammond handling the play-by-play action and Larry Conley providing the color analysis. Tip-off for the second-round contest between the Bulldogs and the Crimson Tide is slated for 9:30 p.m. EST.

Mississippi State enters the 1990 SEC Basketball Tournament sporting a 15-12 overall record after closing out the 1989-90 regular season with a 64-60 non-conference win over the Texas Christian Horned Frogs this past Saturday (March 3) in Starkville.

Having won four of their last six decisions, the Bulldogs are seeded seventh in this year's SEC Tournament after posting a 7-11 league mark for the second consecutive season.

Alabama brings a 21-8 overall record and modest three-game winning streak into post-season tournament action after concluding the 1989-90 regular season with a 63-54 road win over the Florida Gators March 3 in Gainesville.

Seeded second in the 1990 SEC Basketball Tournament after putting together a 12-6 league worksheet, the Crimson Tide is bidding to become the first SEC team since Kentucky (1944-1950) to post back-to-back SEC Tournament titles.

Shrimping opens in E. Mississippi Sound

Mississippi waters north of the Intracoastal Waterway and east of the Gulfport Ship Channel to the half-mile limit opened Wednesday for recreational and commercial shrimping.

Tom Vandevender, Bureau of Marine Resources saltwater fisheries chief, said recent samplings show a mixture of pink and white shrimp in the area of sufficient size for harvest. He said the western Sound will remain closed until shrimp there are of legal size.

Vandevender said floodwaters from the Pearl River are emptying into the western Sound, forcing shrimp out of the area.

The shrimping season in all Mississippi waters closes at midnight April 30.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990-1C

Support available for teenagers affected by another's drinking

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Confidential help is now available for teenagers whose lives have been affected by someone else's drinking.

A new Alateen group will meet on Monday, March 12 from 3:30-4:30 p.m. at the Hancock County Youth Court building, according to sponsors.

Alateen is a division of the Al-

Anon Family Group, in which persons with alcoholic family members or friends are taught effective ways to cope with their problems.

The teenagers, whose anonymity is protected, are encouraged to share experiences and discuss their difficulties. Alateen teaches them

—compulsive drinking is a disease

—they can detach themselves emotionally from the drinker's problems while continuing to love the person

—they are not the cause of anyone else's compulsive drinking or behavior

—they cannot change or control anyone but themselves

—they have spiritual and intellectual resources with which to develop their own potentials, no matter what happens at home —they can build satisfying and rewarding life experiences for themselves.

For more information, call 467-7945.

Bay, Waveland mayors plant namesake trees

Special to the Echo
Twin Hollywood Juniper (Parglosa) trees were center stage for the grand finale on Wednesday, Feb. 28 at the grounds of Bay St. Louis City Hall.

The occasion, sponsored by The Friendship Oak Chapter of the National Society Daughters of The American Revolution, marked the ending of the month-long tree planting project proclaimed by both Mayor John Longo Jr. of Waveland and Mayor Edward Favre of Bay St. Louis.

The naming of a tree as an honorific dates back to plantation days when trees were selected and named to commemorate a special occasion such as the birth of a child or the part a tree played in history, explained Joe Pilet, who serves as chairman of conservancy for her Chapter.

She said the tree named John at the request of Mayor Longo would be placed at the Welcome Center of Waveland.

The tree named Eddie, planted on the front lawn at City Hall was selected to meet the requirements for healthy growth.

The narrowleaf evergreen requires full sun, needs a little trimming and has a cylindrical form.

In an informal ritual the gathered group read in unison a prayer including the petition "Grant our desire to add peace, serenity and beauty to our community."

Each of the mayors accepted handsome leather bound copies of The Coast of Mississippi as produced by the Hancock Bank.

At the refreshment table hostesses included Shirley Davenport, Kathleen Fernandez and Martha Van Peski.

In answer to questions about "famous trees" Pilet said: "Perhaps the General Sherman tree located in Sequoia National Park is the largest living thing on earth. Its diameter is more than 36 feet."

JOYCE LEE of Hancock Bank presents Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre with a copy of The Coast of Mississippi.

NAACP names oratory contest winners

Special to the Echo

The Hancock County Branch of the NAACP hosted its annual Black History Program and Oratorical Contest on Saturday, February 24 at St. Rose Parish Hall.

Participants entered from St. Stanislaus, North Bay, Bay Middle, North Bay and Charles B. Murphy Schools.

Each contestant, ranging in ages from 9-19, was judged on content, originality, application of knowledge, voice projection, articulation and expression. The contestants had a maximum of five minutes to address their specific Black History topics.

Overall, there were 26 participants who presented their topics to an audience of approximately 75 proud parents, relatives, teachers and friends. The program was facilitated by Marilyn Smith, a local school teacher and past president of the NAACP.

The oratory finalists in each category were: Stephanie Tallent, Danette Frederick, Pilar Frederick and Courtney Thomas. Overall winners and recipients of $50 dollar savings bonds were Dannette Frederick and Courtney Thomas. The other finalists received trophies for their fine presentations.

Attending the program as an observer was Meg Hilliker, program chairman for the Hancock County Historical Society. She selected Cassie Frierson, U'nita Twigg, Gary Hall and Brandon Smith to make Black History presentations at their society meeting in May 1990.

"This is an excellent opportunity for our youth to share the knowledge they have gained through research of Black History with the members of our County Historical Society." It is through these forums and interactions that we continue to make strides toward a more homogeneous society," said Calvin Smith, NAACP branch president.

The Black History program will be held each year during the month of February. The NAACP also announced that application forms for the annual Albert J. Fairconnetue Scholarship has been distributed to all high schools in Hancock County.

All graduating seniors are encouraged to apply for this scholarship. To receive more information, students may see their guidance counselors.

Wilkerson is a manufacturing planning associate for the Rocketdyne division of Rockwell International located at the Stennis Space Center.

According to division president Bob Paster, "Wilkerson exemplifies that to which we all aspire, putting into practice the Rockwell Credo, which states 'we believe we have an obligation for the well-being of the communities in which we live and work.'

"John's altruistic behavior is evident in his benevolent community service. He sets an outstanding example for us all on the meaning of commitment and service."

Councilman Wilkerson is serving his second four year term on the Bay St. Louis City Council, as well as his second term as its president. He was instrumental in the adoption and implementation of the civil service program for the city.

According to Mayor Edward Favre, "John knew our employees needed protection, he rolled up his sleeves and went to work. He is diligent in his care of the needs of his district and assiduously works for improvements that affect the entire city. We are very proud that his community service has been recognized by Rocketdyne."

A member of the American Legion for 37 years, Wilkerson has served as adjutant for American Legion Post 139 for the past 20 years. He had previously served as commander for two years.

He has been recognized by the American Legion for his continued work in the Boy's

State Program and the many other scholarship and youth activities of the local post, as well as other local and state civic and fraternal organizations for his many contributions.

Married to the former Lucille Wendling, the Wilkersons have three children and four grandchildren.

GOOD CITIZEN—John Wilkerson, center, is recognized by Al Lenz, title development engineering manager and Bill Costas, director, Rocketdyne Corporation, Stennis Space Center.

Moore slates town meeting to recruit SWEEPS trainees

Attorney General Mike Moore will sponsor a town meeting at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 13, at Mississippi Power Company Auditorium in Bay St. Louis to recruit trainees for Mississippi's new weapon in the war on drugs—the Statewide Education, Enforcement and Prevention System, or SWEEPS.

"SWEEPS is the concept of the Mississippi Substance Abuse Policy Council, a group of about 45 professionals and citizens from all walks of life who in some way play a part in fighting drug abuse in the state," Moore said.

"SWEEPS is not really a new organization, but a method we can use to coordinate the war on drugs that's already being fought by every county, every city, every community in Mississippi."

Moore explained that the goal of SWEEPS is to have a strategic community team in every county in Mississippi.

The policy council's plan calls for the county SWEEPS groups to consist of law enforcement officers, rehabilitation and health service providers, business and industry leaders, prevention organizations, school teachers and administrators, religious leaders, community leaders and local citizens willing to dedicate themselves to fighting the drug war.

In order to reach the council's goals, SWEEPS training sessions will be held at locations across the state. The sessions will be sponsored by the Attorney General's Office, South Central Bell, The Mississippi Telephone Pioneers, Mississippi Power and Light, The Southwest Regional Center for Drug-Free Schools and Communities, The University of Southern Mississippi, and the Mississippi Department of Mental Health.

"At the sessions, each team will develop a philosophy statement and an action plan for their community," Moore said. "When they return home, they will be ready to take command and marshal the anti-drug troops in their communities."

The Attorney General encouraged anyone interested in being part of a SWEEPS task force in Hancock County to attend the town meeting.

Information on the next SWEEPS training session to be held April 4-5 at the Seashore United Methodist Assembly Campground in Harrison County will be available, Moore said.

Bay Little Theatre names cast for Marat-Sade March production

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre production of "Marat-Sade" opens March 15 with two preview performances for students and senior citizens on March 12 and 13. Admission for preview performances is $2.

Additional play dates will be March 15, 16, 17, 23 and 24. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. for all performances.

The explosive drama by Peter Weiss is based on the historical fact that the notorious Marquis de Sade spent the last 13 years of his life in a French asylum called Charenton where he wrote several plays that were put on by the inmates.

Author Weiss has imagined what the Marquis might have written about Charlotte Corday's famous bathtub killing of Jean Paul Marat during the French Revolution and how he might have directed it in the asylum bathhouse. Music composed for the play by R.C. Peaslee.

In 1966, "Marat/Sade" received the annual Antoinette Perry Award for the best play of the season, as well as receiving the New York Drama Critics Award.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is the first community theatre group to present this play in Mississippi.

The director is Larry Heller, assisted by Jane Sharp. Veteran Coast actor Bruce R. Snyder will portray Jean-Paul Marat. The Marquis will be played by Carl Danna, well-known as an actor in local theatre.

Diane Thomas, newcomer to Coast theatre, will be Charlotte Bruegge, Ed Craig, Vermont Smith, and Edith Back.

The four singers are Lana Noonan, Dottie Overal, Carol Young and Larry Timmerman. The musician is Jenifer Smith.

Portraying royalty, nun, and other inmates are Sally Rodrique, Amber Young, Ethel Smith, Robin Partridge, Don George, Toni Handshoe, Noel Gilliam, Joe Gilliam, Kim Williams, Kat Fitzpatrick, Melanie Howard, and French L. Brandon.

Lighting, set and props are by John Holmes, Beth Benvenutti, Lisa Wilbourn and Gertrude Duthier.

Slidell Little Theatre to stage 'The Nerd'

Slidell Little Theatre's fifth production of the current season is the Larry Shue comedy, "The Nerd." Shue, a New York playwright, was both playwright and actor before his untimely death in a plane crash in 1985.

SLT regulars will remember with pleasure "The Foreigner," another play by Shue, which ran at the theatre a few seasons back.

"The Nerd" is a classically simple farce on the question, "How do you get rid of an obnoxious person?"

"The Nerd" began modestly enough, being first staged in 1981 at the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre with Larry Shue in the role of the architect, Whip on cookies (or sprayed directly into his mouth), is harder to get rid of than shingles.

When he descends for an indefinite visit on the Terre Haute architect whose life he saved in Vietnam, the latter puts up with behavior that could drive a person crazy.

Rick (the visitor) is not only unbearable, crass, stupid, and boring, but is oblivious to insult, impenetrable to reason, impervious to rejection. One word sums him up.

"The Nerd" began modestly enough, being first staged in 1981 at the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre with Larry Shue in the role of the architect, Willum).

It moved to England, where it became London's biggest-grossing play of the 1984-85 season. It finally moved to Broadway, where it had a successful run that ended only two years ago. Now it has reached Slidell.

"The Nerd" will run at the theatre on Nellie Drive on March 9, 10, 16, 17, 22, 23, and 24, at 8 p.m. each night. The March 22 performance is in addition to the usual Friday and Saturday shows, and will give people an extra chance to see what is bound to be a very popular play.

Call (504) 641-0324 for reservations.

Carey Chorale to perform in Long Beach

A worship service of unusual nature will be presented at First Baptist Church, Long Beach on Sunday, March 11, at 7 p.m.

The Carey College Chorale, from William Carey College, Hattiesburg, under the direction of Dr. Eugene Winters will lead the service with musical interpretations of prayers, psalms, scripture readings, hymns, and anthems.

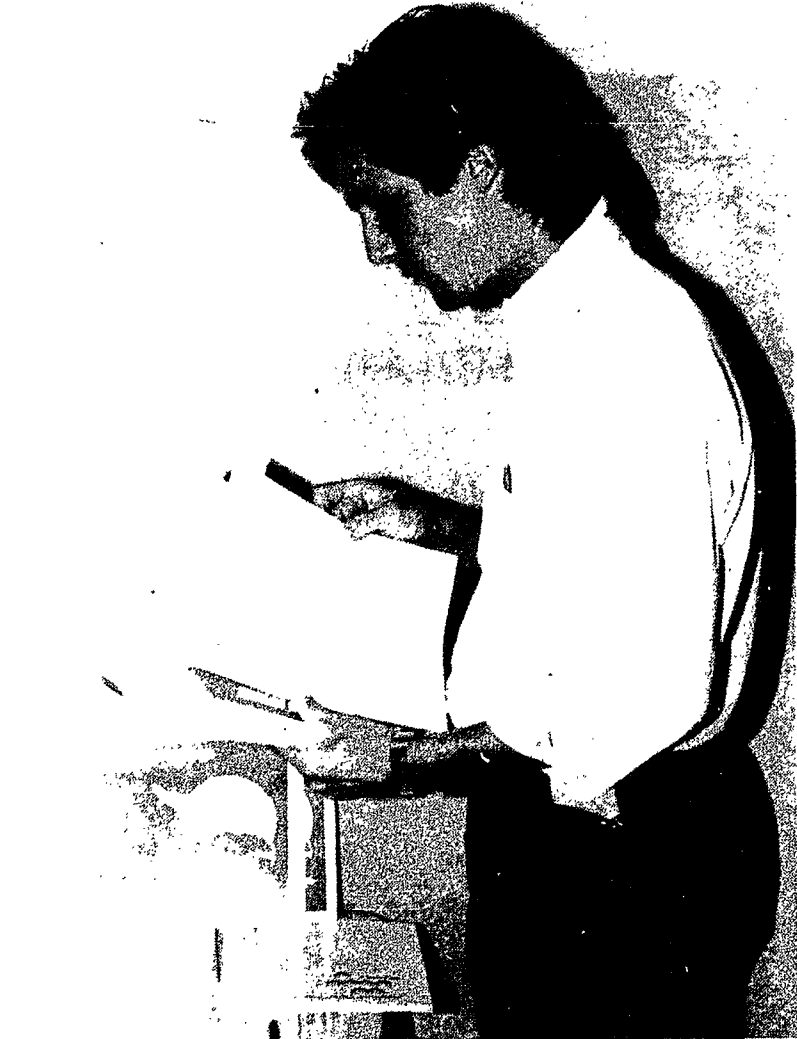

The choral works comprising this service represent a wide variety of musical styles and periods. Representing the "old masters" are works by Heinrich Schütz, J.S. Bach, and W.A. Mozart.

More traditional church music is represented in works by Lindsay Norden, Robert Baker, William L. Dawson, and James Cram.

Selections by 20th century art composers Howard Hanson and Charles Ives are programmed in addition to works by John Rutter, Hank Beebe, and Chuck Endisley.

This eclectic representation of choral literature is intended to draw the listener into an experience of worship as each individual work contributes to the overall presentation of the gospel.

The public is invited to intend.

Keesler offers speakers bureau

One way Keesler people are reaching out into the communities of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is through the base speakers bureau.

The U.S. Air Force Speakers Bureau is an Air Force Public Affairs program designed to increase the local communities' awareness of the Air Force and its mission.

"Keesler Air Force Base has a long-standing tradition of getting involved in the Coast's communities," said Major Ken Garrett, Keesler Public Affairs director.

"Whether it's participating in parades and festivals, or helping with cleanup efforts after a hurricane, our people are reaching out," he added.

According to the major, subject matter ranges from the sophisticated Airborne Command and Control mission to computers and electronic specialty area such as law and medicine.

"And we're always getting new members into the program which increases the number of topics from which to choose," he said.

Representatives of civic groups or schools who are interested in having a member of Keesler's Speakers Bureau address a meeting or a class may call the Keesler Public Affairs Office at 377-2254.

NOMA Kitchen Tour to highlight historic homes of Garden District

The NOMA volunteer committee and the 'Artist's Palate Cookbook' committee of the New Orleans Museum of Art will sponsor a Home and Kitchen Tour of six outstanding homes in the city's historic Garden District.

Tour date and time are Thursday, March 8, from 1 to 4 p.m. Tickets are $10.00 in advance and $12.00 the day of the tour.

Participants will stroll through the spacious lawns, towering mansions and elegant gardens of this historic neighborhood which continues to captivate natives and tourists alike. All homes are within easy walking distance of each other and are easily accessible from the St. Charles Avenue Streetcar.

At the completion of the tour, participants will have the opportunity to see beyond the front doors of these wonderful homes. Participants can sample delicious recipes from the Artist's Palate Cookbook at the fabulous 18th Street mansion of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Favrot. This impressive Italianate villa, constructed in 1859, is immediately recognized by its outstanding east-west corner facade.

As an added feature, artists' paintings are featured in the award-winning Artist's Palate Cookbook will be presented. Graph copies of the cookbook will discuss their work. Participating artists include Wayne Amedee, of New Orleans, known for his abstract paintings and monographs, and Henry Casselli, whose many distinguished honors include the official commission to paint the portrait of President Reagan.

Among the homes included on the tour will be the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Kearney Christovich. This Greek Revival house, built in 1853, is a superb example of a house in evolution, and one which has had three distinct kitchens.

Originally constructed as a six-room house with attached kitchen, the Christovich home now has twelve rooms integrated into additions which span the late 19th and 20th centuries.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lambert is totally renovated and includes a new section featuring a family room and terrace which overlooks a 14x30 foot lap pool.

Also, part of the kitchen is a new addition featuring a large marbletop island. The Lamberts completed the extensive renovation prior to moving into the house in 1986. Contractor and designer for this elegant home was Michael Carbine of New Orleans.

The best Garden District traditions and customs is preserved in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gundlach. This Greek Revival structure dating from 1853-54 includes Corinthian columns, a Victorian parlor with 18th-century English furniture, cypress woodwork, and heart-pine floors.

Long known to New Orleans society as the Pipes home, the residence also has a garden in which one will find many rare varieties of old camellias grown from cuttings by Mrs. Pipes, who brought them from her family home in the Feliciana section of Louisiana more than 50 years ago.

Fully restored to its original 1859 condition, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Allen Sheen is noted for having more interior fresco work than any other Southern home.

Also, this spectacular residence, constructed in the Italianate style, features one of only three ballrooms remaining in Garden District homes. The kitchen of the Sheen home is the original pantry of the structure.

The impressive Colonial Revival home of Mr. and Mrs.

Aubrey J. Brooks Jr., constructed in 1910, was designed by the architectural firm of Diboll, Owen, and Goldstein, with specifications including a reception hall, parlor, library, dining room, rear hall, pantry and kitchen.

Dr. Wiley Buffington had converted the residence into an apartment house, and for twenty-one years, one of the apartments was the home of late Congressman T. Hale Boggs. In 1971, the Brooks acquired the house and it was returned to a single-family residence with the assistance of Freret & Wolf, Architects. Included among the features of this renovation is a spacious kitchen three times its original size.

All proceeds from the Garden District Home and Kitchen Tour benefit the New Orleans Museum of Art. For tickets and tour information call (504) 488-2631.

Perk up a recipe's taste with low calorie spices

Spices and herbs can be a wonderful help in the battle of avoiding excess calories.

Individually, spices and herbs add almost no calories. What a flavor difference they can make in foods that are low in calories. Low calorie diets are low fat and closely related to plain boiled, steamed and steamed dishes, and unbuttered potatoes.

A creative use of spices, however, can become more satisfying and a lot more interesting.

When first beginning to use spices and herbs, your family should not get one for some of the best. Don't give up. Try them. Here are some tips for seasoning food with herbs and spices.

Use sparingly. Start with a pinch of 1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon. Taste, and then add more if necessary. It is difficult to correct too much seasoning, and it is much more pleasant to use more than one seasoning in a recipe. For instance, an herb goes well with many of the seasoned salts.

Add at the proper time. The flavor of ground spices is imparted immediately, so they should be added about 15 minutes before the end of the cooking period.

Whole spices are best in slow cooking dishes. Add them at the beginning of cooking to allow flavors to release and blend.

Take care when substituting seasonings. No two seasonings have the same flavor. If substitutions are made, the end result will be different. Nutmeg and mace, oregano and marjoram, and black and white pepper have similar flavors.

Changing the flavor of a recipe could be an advantage by adding interest to an old favorite. If the seasoning called for in the recipe is not available, check the seasonings for another one that goes well with the food being prepared.

Take care of spices. Spices should be fresh and have a full aroma for best results in food preparation. Spices do not improve with age. To preserve or prolong the flavor of spices, keep tightly covered when not in use.
